

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

This invention provides a video system including an image pickup device for converting an optical image into a video signal, an image pickup direction changing 5 device for changing the image pickup direction of the image pickup device, an image display device for displaying the video signal output from the image pickup device, and a function display device for displaying function information of the image pickup 10 device.